Help your child practice early literacy skills and understand ideas during everyday life.

When playing, use toys and games to talk about how spoken words are made up of sound parts.

When preparing meals, gather ingredients together, talk about what they are and what step comes next.

Before leaving home, make a list of tasks to do. Say them aloud and write them down together, focusing on sounds, letters, words, or ideas your child knows.

The research reported here is funded by a grant to the National Center on Improving Literacy from the Office of Elementary and Secondary Education, in partnership with the Office of Special Education Programs (Award #: S283D160003). The opinions expressed are those of the authors and do not represent views or policies of OESE, OSEP, or the U.S. Department of Education. You should not assume endorsement by the Federal government. © National Center on Improving Literacy. https://improvingliteracy.org | twitter.com/NCILiteracy | facebook.com/improvingliteracy