Grabel Hook is the superhero that I created in my dreams, his real name is George. One day in an alternate universe, he was a regular man living in the Amazon, when suddenly, a radioactive bat bit him! Out into another dimension, the bat vanishes like a ghost! In this world, all animals except for jaguars are extinct. Therefore, humans were too afraid to hunt the jaguars and could only find bananas in the trees. These bananas were important because this was the only source of food other than meat from the terrifying beasts! Grabel Hook notices that he needs to step up and save the day when there has been less and less bananas every day. He wants to be like his dad because he was an amazing superhero so this gave him the motivation and the inspiration to save the day. He trains by the banks of water for hours to be able to stop the supervillain. Grabel Hook is determined to be just like his dad Super Hook, but today he is his own hero and making his dad proud.

His powers include all the abilities that other superheroes can do, especially fly. The bat bite gave him these powers to use for good instead of evil. He can hear anyone in need within a thousand mile radius. He found out he had these powers when a jaguar was bullying a group of kids. He used his freeze breath on the jaguar keeping him in place. The kids cheered "Thank you, Grabel Hook!" when he saved them from danger. There has been a total of over 50 times he has rescued or protected other humans. They all put their life in Grabel Hook's hands and his skills.

While the other missions were easy this one wasn't so simple. The conflict is that a crazy psychopath has threatened to eat all the bananas in the 5 cosmos. Grabel Hook has to assemble a crime fighting super team of rad animals named the ZOOtopia to stop the crazy psychopath. ZOOtopia is going to blow up half of the universe while Grabel Hook flies in at super-fast speed. The crazy psychopath can't control the other half of the universe forever! Something was familiar about this wrongdoer, but before looking again, he noticed that the villain was his father the whole time! Grabel Hook tries to bargain with his dad because Grabel Hook didn't want to fight his family. The deal was if his dad would give up the bananas, Super Hook wouldn't get hurt. Super Hook says the only way to get the bananas is to beat him in hand to hand combat. While ZOOtopia puts bombs in place, Grabel Hook has chosen the power of magic to battle Super Hook. Grabel Hook hypnotizes Super Hook to forget about the fight and to let go of the bananas.

In the end, everybody will have all the bananas in the world. Super Hook joins ZOOtopia and the two are a family again. Super Hook has no memory of anything that happened. The bombs were created to make a distraction big enough for Grabel Hook to hypnotize Super Hook. Therefore, the superheroes have spared his father. Grabel Hook teleported back into outer space to explore. Finally, there were enough bananas for everybody to dig in! THE END.
